Manufacturer Schacht

Description 30" cherry Schacht-Reeves. Purchased new in 2009; Schacht ceased production about five years ago; the retail price then was above $2,000. Although this has one treadle, the treadle is big enough to use both feet either alternating or in unison. Uses either double-drive or Scotch tension. Four whorl speeds, seven bobbins, lazy kate. Pristine condition. Wonderful for fine-gauge production spinning. Alas, I've down-sized.

Manufacturer PRIVATE/SELF BUILT

Description Free to a loving home! Grandma Dorothea Buell was big into weaving. She had, I believe, at one point something like 20 floor looms. She taught weaving to many. The Buellwood Weavers Guild in Houghton/Hancock MI is named in her honor. The loom that I am offering is a 4-treadle floor loom. Family history has it that this loom was commissioned by my grandfather for a local craftsman to make, during WW2. This was during the steel rationing, so supposedly the loom is made with wooden joins wherever practical. It has gone unused for decades, but should still be useable with some loving care.

Included Equipment Nearly new Shannock Tapestry loom for sale. Beams are a little over 96" wide, so we think it's the 8-foot weaving width version of this loom. 8 treadles. Early 2000s vintage. A Thing of Beauty and Use...that is not being used. Can you offer it a good home?

It has lived in my mom's weaving studio, which we are now relocating. We've disassembled it, very carefully, to remove it from the studio. We have the the hardware and original instructions from Shannock to aid in re-assembly. There is a box of accessories as well -- I'll get a list from my mom of what's in there.

Prefer local pick-up for this large, heavy item. If picking up before July 6th it will be from the studio, which has a freight elevator; if after, it would be from climate-controlled storage. We can provide rough dimensions and weight of components for buyer to a) confirm their vehicle is big enough; or b) arrange pickup/packaging/shipping. (We don't have a vehicle large enough to transport it to your shipper).

We are excited for this practically pristine, rare Shannock to find a place where it can get the attention it deserves.

ps I apologize that the photo is from the back! Hopefully you can still see what you need to see. I have more photos.

- 45 inch stainless steel 12 dent reed
- 45 inch steel 10 dent reed, some rust - has been cleaned with rust remover and steel wool but needs to be retaped
- 32 inch steel 15 dent reed, some rust - has been cleaned with rust remover and steel wool but needs to be retaped
I learned to weave on this loom by removing 4 of the 8 harnesses and tying up only 4 treadles. However an experienced weaver can use all 8 harnesses and the 10 treadles so this is a loom that can grow with you! It is solid and weaves true. I have made rugs, shawls, dish towels, scarves etc. on this loom.
weaving bench with storage made by local artisan -wood does not match loom wood selection of weaving books, shuttles, shoebox of extra steel heddles, lease sticks, etc. - everything you need to start weaving immediately.

Description Built in the late 1960s, equipped with a removable sectional warp beam. I am the second owner and have been weaving on it since 1977. Two reeds are included, 12 and 15 dent. Over 800 heddles are already on the loom with an extra packet that have never been used. Two repair heddles. Original book. Please note: due to its age, the loom has had some issues with the brake. I have consulted with Nina at Camilla Valley Farms, who has been helpful in addressing it. This is reflected in the price. There is a new brake band and spring.

Manufacturer OTHER

Description Newcomb Loom Co. Weaver's Delight Flying Shuttle loom #8505 and accessories – A cousin originally purchased this loom new from Newcomb Loom Company of Davenport, Iowa in 1956 and I purchased it from his family in 1978. We purchased a few repair parts from the Newcomb Loom Co. in 1978 to make the loom usable and I used it up until about a year ago. Around 1985 we modified the loom to remove the flying shuttle apparatus but have kept all the parts so it could be restored to its original state. The loom has no treadles; it has a mechanical mechanism to move the harnesses. I used it mainly to make rag rugs and mug rugs. It has been in a dry basement since 1978. It has some wear from normal usage. My husband reinforced the warp beam.

Although we live in Ohio, our son lives near Boston and we are willing to bring the loom to his house when we visit him if a sale is arranged.
